PRESENTATION OF PRIZES BY

TOM ALLEN
Comedian, Writer, Actor

In 2005 Tom Allen won the competition So You Think You're Funny in Edinburgh and went on to win the BBC New Comedy Award later that same year.

Since then he has performed at Montreal's Just For Laughs, on tour in the US with Eugene Mirman and Reggie Watts and in the last three years has made his debut at Sydney, Adelaide and Melbourne Comedy Festivals. After a three-year hiatus he returned to Edinburgh this year with his 7th Fringe show.

He has just returned from supporting Sarah Millican on her UK tour.

His live chat show Tom Allen's Society has seen him bring his own inimitable comedic stylings to spur whimsical conversation with such greats as Margaret Cho, Sarah Millican, Ed Byrne, Mark Gatiss, Jack Whitehall, Amy Lamé and Matt Smith.

Tom plays the protagonist Pip in the Sony Award winning Radio 4 series Bleak Expectations.

As a presenter, he covered the Edinburgh Festival for BBC2's The Review Show. He has also hosted The World's Greatest Bodyshockers on E4, reported on Big Brother's Big Mouth and covered the British Fashion Awards for Net-A-Porter where he interviewed Christopher Kane, Olivia Palermo and Victoria Beckham.

He trained with the National Youth Theatre performing with the company in London and Manchester in addition to working on outreach projects and films.
